ARTPORT_making waves is a curatorial collective that raises awareness about current social and political issues worldwide. One of their projects is the international video contest Cool Stories for When the Planet Gets Hot. Editions II and III are on view at the SJDC from September 29 – December 15, 2011.

The Sheila C. Johnson Design Center is an award-winning campus center for Parsons The New School for Design that combines learning and public spaces with exhibition galleries to provide an important new downtown destination for art and design programming. The mission of the Center is to generate an active dialogue on the role of innovative art and design in responding to the contemporary world. Its programming encourages an interdisciplinary examination of possibility and process, linking the university to local and global debates

This contest is held as part of the programs in association with the exhibition U-n-f-o-l-d: A Cultural Response to Climate Change on view at the Anna-Maria and Stephen Kellen Gallery, SJDC, 30 September-15 December, 2011.

*Opening reception: Thursday, September 29, 2011, 6:30-9 pm
ALL ARE WELCOME.*
